Troops Nab Suspects, Weapons:

- Coalition and Iraqi forces detained 42 suspected terrorists and seized several weapons caches in operations on February 18-19. Troops Foil Bombing, Uncover Plot:

- During an operation in a rural area about 30 miles northeast of Ramadi, coalition forces uncovered an al Qaeda document that outlined a plot to kill members of the Albu-Nimr tribe. The plan revealed rocket attacks and assassinations against the tribe members in Hit. A second document detailed how al Qaeda degraded and destroyed phone switches in Haditha, Baghdadi, and Hit and took phone cards away from people so they could not call out. Coalition forces turned both documents over to the Iraqi Ministry of Defense and the Ministry of Interior.

The Iraqi soldiers trained on various air assault techniques in addition to fundamental helicopter safety. The training was designed to help the Iraqi army better defend itself against the insurgency and to establish itself as a more capable defense force. [4.] Help Iraq Build Government Capacity and Provide Essential Services – Electricity Overview

Daily Electricity Supplied and Estimated Demand in Iraq Since January 2004

- Electricity availability in Baghdad increased in the last week (February 14-20) with an average of 6.4 hours per day.
- Nationwide average electricity availability stayed steady at 10.1 hours per day.
- Electricity output in January 2005 and 2006 are approximately equivalent. 2006 electricity output levels would be higher if not for sabotage.

[4.] Help Iraq Build Government Capacity and Provide Essential Services – Electricity and Education

Electricity:

- Construction is complete for two electrical distribution projects in the Ninewa Province. Refurbishment to the Bab Al Baidh ($859K) substation and the Bab Al Top ($224K) substation was completed on January 24. The rehabilitated substations increase the power distribution throughout the existing power grid and benefit the Mosul neighborhoods of Al Baidh (5,000 residents) and Al Top (4,500 residents).
- Rehabilitation of the Darkar Substation in Dahuk Province was completed on February 13. The substation was energized and handed over to the local electrical authority. The substation will supply power to the local distribution network and eventually to 10,000 homes or approximately 50,000 people.

Education:

- The Central Organization for Statistics and Information Technology (COSIT) opened a new computer training center. Prior to the establishment of the new facilities, training was conducted in a small room with old computers that were unreliable and could not run the necessary statistical software. Through the USAID project, a modern computer training center was successfully opened within COSIT. This training center enables COSIT's Statistical Training Section to conduct additional computer based statistical training courses for its clients across all government ministries in a modern and stable environment.

[4.] Help Iraq Build Government Capacity and Provide Essential Services – Public Health, Healthcare, Water and Sanitation

Public Health and Healthcare:

- After a year under construction, the USG-funded Baqubah General Hospital project is finished. The 331-bed hospital includes surgery and consultation service clinics that see 400-500 patients daily. The facility now includes a new incinerator and reverse osmosis water treatment system; plumbing and sewer system upgrade; architectural renovation; emergency backup generator and repaired elevators. These facility upgrades will improve conditions for both patients and the health care providers. It is one of two hospitals in Baqubah.

Water and Sanitation:

- USAID trained 36 water pump caretakers throughout south-central Iraq to improve the functioning of local water pumps. In addition to training courses on repairs and routine maintenance, the caretakers have been provided with the necessary repair tool kits and barrels. Enhancing the technical capacity of the water station operators will reduce system breakdowns and idle time, and increase reliability and life span. USAID has previously supported the pumping, storage, and distribution systems in more than 30 settlement areas for internally displaced persons.

[4.] Help Iraq Build Government Capacity and Provide Essential Services – Transportation and Communications

Communications:

- The Ministry of Communications has signed a contract with Nortel to enhance the reliability and the capacity of the national fiber network. The Ministry has requested funding for fiber optic equipment for the International Zone. All projects, if approved, will use Iraqi funding.

Iraq Needs Immediate Aid To Prosecute Saddam Hussein's Regime:

- Iraqi officials need the world's help to document the abuses of Saddam Hussein's regime and bring its deposed leader to justice, says State Department legal adviser John Bellinger. "This is a process that the Iraqis want to do themselves. They have experienced judges who are leading this process. But nonetheless, there is a need for international assistance," Bellinger told journalists at a February 15 briefing in Washington.
 - Among Iraq's most immediate needs, Bellinger said, are forensic experts to investigate mass grave sites, support for witness interviews and protection and legal experts to advise prosecutors.
 - Bellinger observed that prior to the Iraq war, "The human rights organizations, the United Nations, the international community had roundly condemned Saddam for his atrocities and had called, in fact, for the world to do something about it."

[8.] Strengthen Public Understanding of Coalition Efforts and Public Isolation of the Insurgents – Developments

Strategic Communications:

- President Bush, in an address to the nation following the bombing in Samarra, Iraq, stated, “On behalf of the American people, I extend my deepest condolences to the people of Iraq for the brutal bombing of the Golden Mosque in Samarra, one of the holiest sites in Shi’a Islam. The terrorists in Iraq have again proven that they are enemies of all faiths and of all humanity. The world must stand united against them, and steadfast behind the people of Iraq...The United States stands ready to do all in its power to assist the Government of Iraq to identify and bring to justice those responsible for this terrible act. And the American people pledge to work with the people of Iraq to rebuild and restore the Golden Mosque of Samarra to its former glory.”
- In response to the destruction of the Golden Mosque in Samarra on February 22, Ambassador Khalilzad and General Casey issued a statement condemning the acts as terrorist violence. “We denounce in the strongest terms the terrorist destruction of the Golden Mosque – the Shrine of the Askari Imams. This heinous crime is a deliberate attempt to foment sectarian strife in Iraq and the region. Given the historic, cultural, and religious importance of this shrine, this attack is a crime against humanity. The Shrine should be rebuilt and the United States will contribute to its reconstruction. The Iraqi people, in this hour of sadness and anger over a despicable crime, must not allow themselves to be divided...This is a critical moment for Iraq. We call on all Iraqis to unite against terror and violence. Coming together in unity to condemn this barbaric act and working for Iraq’s salvation will be the right response.”

[8.] Strengthen Public Understanding of Coalition Efforts and Public Isolation of the Insurgents – Developments

Strategic Communications:

- On February 17, Secretary Donald Rumsfeld said to the Council on Foreign Relations that “today, in Iraq, an energetic media has emerged from the rubble of Saddam’s police state, with nearly 300 newspapers, over 90 radio stations and more than 40 television stations. Iraqis are now accessing the Web in their homes, as well as in internet cafes that have sprung up in towns and cities across their country. We are fighting a battle where the survival of our free way of life is at stake. And the center of gravity of that struggle is not just on the battlefield. It is a test of wills and it will be won or lost with our public and the publics of free nations across the globe. We will need to do all we can to attract supporters to our efforts, to correct the lies being told which so damage our country, and shatter the appeal of the enemy.”
- Secretary Rumsfeld, on February 16 at the House Committee on Appropriations, commented that Iraqi Security Forces are increasingly taking the lead: “Because of the progress on the security, political and economic fronts, US military commanders recommended, and the President has directed, that the United States reduce its combat strength in Iraq by about two brigades, from 17 to 15. At the same time, the US military will be shifting more to a supporting role, as Iraqi forces take even more of a leading role in securing their own country. However, as the President has stated, force level decisions will be condition based. They have been and will continue to be determined by an assessment of Iraq's progress on the political, economic, and security fronts.”

- The chart shows average daily power production in megawatt hours (MWh). 120,000 MWh goal equates to 20 hours at 6000 MW average supplied load or 24 hours at 5000 MW average supply load. Currently supplies are not much improved over last year when judged by hours of power, but this is due in part to an influx of new appliances. This has dramatically altered demand and diluted the effect of increased generation capacity on actual results.

- Iraq Petroleum Sector Facts
 - There are three main refineries in Iraq: Bayji (North), Daura (Baghdad), and Basra (South).
 - There are several minor refineries (known as topping plants) dotted through the country: Kisik (Mosul), Qarrayah, Haditha, Tikrit, Nassiriyah, Maysan (Amarah), and Samawah. These primarily produce asphalt and low grade kerosene and diesel.
 - The majority of Iraq's oil infrastructure is antiquated and in need of modernization.
 - Domestically produced refined products (gasoline/benzene, diesel, kerosene, LPG) currently do not meet domestic demand because of sabotage to the pipeline infrastructure. Iraq will be dependent upon imports until the insurgents cease operations against oil pipelines.
